

Throughout today's meeting with our tutor, we discussed how we are doing in the group project.

The feedback was positive and we should keep up the good work.

Also, we talked through the client's requirements for the next iteration. What is the biggest priority for the client - auto-scheduling and ticket sales are the two implementations that the client wants to see the most. Olga, our tutor, suggested that she look into the auto-scheduling algorithm and provide helpful feedback on how to improve and finish it.
